

Investment Team

Marcus Brooks MA, ASIP

Director – Head of Private Clients & Charities

Marcus joined Cornelian Asset Managers in 2002, runs the Private Client & Charities team and is responsible for the monitoring, management and performance of all private client and charity portfolios. He manages key client accounts and is a Director of the company. Until 2010 Marcus was Chief Investment Officer and continues to sit on the Asset Allocation Committee and provide input to the investment process. A graduate of Oxford University, Marcus worked previously for the SG Warburg Group and Kleinwort Benson Investment Management in London, before moving to Stewart Ivory & Co. Ltd in 1994. At Stewart Ivory he was responsible for UK Equity and Fixed Interest investment and managed Investment Trust, Unit Trust, Pension and Charity portfolios.

Hector Kilpatrick MSc, ASIP

Chief Investment Officer

Hector joined Cornelian in June 2010 from Scottish Value Management where he managed the successful SVM UK Alpha Fund. Hector's strong track record managing UK equities was recognised by Skandia which appointed him onto the fund manager panel for their UK Best Ideas fund during this time. Prior to this, he spent over six years at Standard Life Investments where he was appointed Investment Director, and was a key member of the Continental European equities team. Hector is responsible for the management and development of the investment process and investment performance across all funds. He also works closely with the Private Clients & Charities team, headed by Marcus Brooks, in the daily monitoring and management of our client portfolios. Hector Kilpatrick holds an MSc in Aquatic Resource Management and an MBA in Strategic Management, and he is an Associate of the Society of Investment Professionals.

Bill Bulloch BSc (Hons), MSc

Associate Director

Bill joined Cornelian in July 2008 from Scottish Widows Investment Partnership where, as Development Director he was responsible for establishing their 'liability driven investment' capabilities and creating investment solutions for Institutional pension schemes. Prior to this he was with Abbey National Asset Managers for 13 years, initially as a successful UK equity fund manager before being promoted to Deputy Head of Asset Allocation and Global Strategy with responsibility for a wide range of risk graded multi asset portfolios. Bill's role at Cornelian includes researching UK equities, selecting specialist funds and contributing to asset allocation decisions for all client portfolios. He also plays an active role in new product development and creating investment solutions for institutional clients.

Ben Drury MA (Hons), CA

Investment Analyst

Ben joined Cornelian in 2009 from Bank of Scotland Corporate where he was Senior Analyst within the Private Equity ('PE') Group. Ben began his career with PricewaterhouseCoopers in Edinburgh where he trained as a Chartered Accountant. Upon completion of his training programme he transferred to the San Francisco office where he focussed on clients in the Investment Management Industry. On returning to the UK, his role at Bank of Scotland involved structuring debt packages for PE fund managers and selecting and making commitments to PE funds. Ben's role at Cornelian includes researching UK equities, selecting specialist funds and contributing to asset allocation decision for all client portfolios.
